

The recent change in slope of the relative strength line from up to down shows how the growth-oriented Nasdaq has begun to lag the S&P 500. Note the particular disparity of the past three sessions.

